Report on “Enhancing Knowledge & Skills of NSS Programme officer to educate community on prevention and control of common cancers”.

Introduction:

Cancer is an important public health problem in India. The incidence and prevalence of cancer is rapidly increasing in both developing and developed countries. Approximately 9.5 lakh Indian population suffering from cancer, out of which around 3.3 lakh males are suffering from lung cancer, oral cavity, Oesophagus, stomach and around 6.2 lakh females are suffering from breast, cervical, oral & Oesophageal cancer.

The most common cancers reported in India are breast and cervical cancers in females and lung and oral cancers in males. Over 62,000 women died in India due to cervical cancer in 2015 latest estimates by the ICMR. In 2008 cervical cancer was the most common cause of death due to disease among Indian Women. However 2012 report by WHO shows breast cancer upstaging cervical cancer as the most common in Indian women. Public awareness of cancer prevention can play its vital role in early diagnosis and treatment.

In view of this, University has undertaken Cancer Awareness Outreach Programme for the community through different organization like National Service Scheme (NSS), Nursing students and expanding towards Anganwadi workers focusing on awareness among rural population for early cancer detection with the leadership of Honourable Vice Chancellor Dr. M. Vijaykumar Onco-Surgeon. In the light of present knowledge early detection and prompt treatment of early cancer and pre cancers conditions provide the best possible protection against cancer for the individual and community.

Objectives:

- To create awareness about the risk factors and early clinical features of oral, cervical and breast and general caners to the NSS, Programme Officers and Volunteers.
- To inform people about the importance of early detection of cancer.
- To create awareness about facilities regarding cancer screening and treatment.
- To educate them about existing social security scheme with respect to cancer treatment.

- Training of NSS programme officers with feedback analysis: On October 1st organized one day training programme for NSS Programme Officers & aims to Ensure that this work is taken forward effectively.

Training of NSS volunteers:

With the help of result generated in the pilot project for NSS programme officers, education material was designed and developed health education module for the participants. We had identified 17 different centres' for organizing the programme. So in each center around 7-8 colleges & 500-1000 students participated. Students were divided into smaller groups (gender wise) and we selected 5 to 6 speakers for different groups. Power point presentations include video, slides on different symptoms and sign, causes, test for early detection, for oral breast cervical and general cancers, Govt schemes
